SPECIAL OBSERVANCES

Monday: The Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of the Church (On February 11, 2018, the Congregation for Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments issued a Decree implementing Pope Francis' decision that the Memorial of the "Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of the Church" be inscribed in the General Roman Calendar and observed on the Monday following Pentecost, taking precedence over conflicting obligatory Memorials. The joyous veneration given to the Mother of God by contemporary Church, in light of reflection on the mystery of Christ and on his nature, cannot ignore the figure of a woman, the Virgin Mary, who is both the Mother of Christ and Mother of the Church.)

Wednesday: St. Barnabas, Apostle (Preached the gospel in Antioch; companion of Paul; attended the Council of Jerusalem; martyred on, and patron of, the island of his birth, Cyprus; name mentioned in the Roman Canon.)

Friday: St. Anthony of Padua, Priest and Doctor of the Church (O.F.M.; devoted student of scripture; first friar to teach theology to his fellow friars; gifted orator and preacher; known as the "Evangelical Doctor"; patron saint of Portugal, of the poor, and of lost articles.)

The Holy Spirit: His Gifts and Fruits in the Catholic Tradition

The Holy Spirit, the third person of the Holy Trinity, is the divine presence who dwells within every believer, guiding hearts and minds toward holiness. Catholic teaching—firmly rooted in Sacred Scripture and the constant Magisterium—affirms that the Holy Spirit works abundantly in the life of the faithful by bestowing both spiritual gifts and fruitful virtues. This divine action transforms the believer from the inside out, enabling a vibrant response to God's call in every circumstance.

At the core of this transformative work are the seven gifts of the Holy Spirit: wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, knowledge, piety, and fear of the Lord. These gifts are first imparted at Baptism and grow stronger in the sacrament of Confirmation. They are not simply admirable qualities but are profound graces meant to illuminate the mind and heart. For instance, wisdom fosters a deep insight into divine truth, while counsel inspires us to discern and follow the right path in life's many complexities. Fortitude empowers us to face adversity with courageous faith, and piety nurtures an intimate relationship with the Lord. This framework, echoed in the Catechism and upheld by the Magisterium, lays the foundation for a life steeped in grace and open to divine inspiration.

Complementing the gifts are the fruits of the Holy Spirit—the visible signs of spiritual transformation that manifest in the everyday life of a Christian. Drawing from St. Paul's inspiring words in Galatians 5:22-23, the fruits traditionally include charity (or love), joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control, modesty, continence, and chastity. These fruits are not self-generated but are the authentic result of a life surrendered to Spirit. They serve as a testimony to God's abiding presence within us and as practical markers of a well-lived Christian life. Each fruit contributes to the building of a compassionate community, where love and peace abound amid life's trials.

The dynamic interplay between the gifts and fruits of the Holy Spirit offers believers a comprehensive roadmap for spiritual growth. The inner transformation provided by the gifts equips one with the intellectual and moral fortitude necessary to make sound decisions, while the fruits provide the tangible evidence of that transformation in one's conduct and relationships. In this way, a life enriched by the Holy Spirit not only responds to God's call on a personal level but also radiates His love and truth to the broader community. This dual reality—internal grace coupled with external virtue—has been a central tenet of Catholic spirituality through the centuries, guiding the faithful toward a life that mirrors the love of Christ.

In summary, the Catholic perspective on the gifts and fruits of the Holy Spirit encapsulates a profound vision for Christian living. The seven gifts—wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, knowledge, piety, and fear of the Lord—equip us with the inner resources necessary for spiritual discernment and strength. Simultaneously, the fruits—ranging from charity and joy to modesty and chastity—serve as unmistakable markers of a heart transformed by divine grace. Through both gifts and fruits, the Holy Spirit leads us toward a deeper union with God, inspiring every act of kindness, every moment of peace, and every generous gesture that makes the world a reflection of the heavenly Kingdom. Embracing these divine gifts and cultivating their corresponding fruits, the Church continues to bear witness to a transcendent reality where every believer is invited to partake in the enduring, life-giving work of the Holy Spirit.

For your convenience, we can do the shopping for you—pick up a food ministry donation envelope in the narthex. Place the donation envelope in the weekend collection basket or drop it off in the church office.

As you have noticed yourselves, the food costs have increased drastically—any extra help is greatly appreciated.

If you know of anyone in our Holly Lake Community that might need our contributions, please acquire a name and phone number. Please remember that the family does not have to be a member of Holy Spirit's Community.
